

Awareness - Introduction

Have you ever been asked to do, or ever thought about doing awareness? But then you thought "I can't do that", "I don't have the right training for that", "I wouldn't know what to say in an awareness case" ... etc.? This introductory workshop is designed to empower people or give them an introduction to the work. Workshop to join in / to discuss, there will be no lecture.

Language: German

Workshop from: Queerbeat

(Body) norms and spatial policies in collective spaces

As organizers of an event, many decisions have to be made. Starting with the general question of which space to use for an event, followed by practical questions such as how to structure the room: How can we make the place accessible? These practical decisions mean that people can participate, feel safe and comfortable and enjoy the events... or not.

Language: German

Workshop from: Oriel

Flirting

Question social ideas and find out how flirting can be (more) fun for you? Exchange, reflection and games are part of this workshop and you will probably come out with some new impulses. Joris has been giving workshops on sexuality and consensus since 2009.

Language: German

Workshop from: Joris

Throw-out without using physical contact

Even in left collective spaces there are sometimes situations in which we cannot make progress with awareness work. But even when people do not want to leave, there are sometimes creative possibilities. In this workshop there is room to talk about good solutions and practically try them.

Open for: All who feel that they belong to FLINT (FLINT = female/lesbian/inter/non-binary/trans)

Language: German

Workshop from: Queerbeat

NewYork in Bethanien is located on the first floor of the south wing. There is a barrier-free WC. The premises are also accessible via an elevator. To use the elevator (in the main building) you can register in advance by email - awarenet@riseup.net - or spontaneously ring on 28.3 - 0157 3673 1843

Justice beyond state, police and prisons

How can we deal with conflict and violence in our communities without relying on the patriarchal institutions of state justice and police? How can we put our criticism of those institutions into practice? In our workshop we want to discuss with you what we need to be able to react to interpersonal violence in anti-authoritarian communities and in the long run end (patriarchal) violence for good. We don't offer a master plan but a room for interaction and debate.

Language: German

Workshop from: Ignite

Power of definition

Power of definition of an effected person is part of awareness concepts and thus an important basis for awareness work. I would like to discuss this basic principle with participants and clarify open questions together. How did the principle of power of definition come about and what is to be achieved through it? What are the obstacles and what should those applying this principle in their work pay attention to? No previous knowledge is necessary.

Language: German

Workshop from: Toni

DE/EN whispered translation will be offered. Please contact us if you have other language requests and we will do our best to organize it. If you can translate, feel welcome to contact us. Email: awarenet@riseup.net
The workshops are free of charge.
Around 2pm there will be food (vegan) for donation.

Rave Awareness

This workshop deals with questions of personal boundaries and discrimination and how we can create spaces in clubs where people feel more secure and comfortable. The same social power structures that permeate our society are present at our parties; this discussion will look at how respect for personal boundaries and freedom can come together whilst partying.

Language: English

Workshop from: RaveAwareness